

Asya Akhlaque is Practice Manager for the Global Investment Climate Unit in the Finance, Competitiveness, and Innovation Global Practice, EFI VP at the World Bank Group. Since joining the Bank, she has worked in East Asia, Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia Region. In her most recent assignment, she was the Lead Economist in the East Asia and Pacific Region. Asya's primary specialization is in microeconomic analysis of economic development. She has led several high-profile analytical reports including Vietnam's 10-year Science and Technology and Innovation (STI) Strategy with Education GP; Philippines SME Productivity Report and several national and subnational Investment Climate Assessment reports across South Asia and Africa region. As a seasoned professional she has experience in leading major client engagements across a diverse set of PSD topics, and has co-led multi-sectoral IPF and DPO operations including the Ethiopia Competitiveness and Job Creation Investment Project and the Mauritius Private Sector Competitive Development Policy Loan. Asya holds a Doctor of Philosophy and a M.A. degree in Economics from the University of Cambridge. She received her Bachelor's degree in economics from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. Before joining the World Bank, Asya was an Assistant Professor in Economics at the Lahore University of Management Sciences, Pakistan.